

i feel it. you? is a start-up on a mission to reinvigorate the tennis apparel industry. We take out the focus of competitiveness from the game, and inject the feeling of enjoyment and fun, making it about being free and happy, while celebrating people's uniqueness.

We are a responsible company with emphasis on clean product ("good for you and the planet") and multi-functional styles "from court to street" with cool laid-back aesthetics.

The company was established in summer 2020 (EU/Estonia based with founders living in Switzerland, Zurich) with the goal to launch its first collection in SS 2021. Focus is on a limited apparel line and related accessories (bags, etc.).

We are looking for an intern or freelance designer who could help design a small capsule collection using 3D software (Vstitcher from Browzwear or Clo)

This is an incredible opportunity for a young creative to enter the company in its early stage and help shape the launch of its first collection, bringing to the table her or his creativity and (re-)imagination – redefining how the today's active and wellness brand should look like.

If you feel it and want to learn and gain an invaluable experience working hand in glove with the founder of the company – write us!

Send your resume along with a short description of why you are interested in this opportunity to Nele Jaanimägi (founder): nele@ifeelityou.com , +41793071451
